Samantha Kopec   Champaign, IL

Full Stack Developer   skopec25@gmail.com   github.com/Nadrioc

Graduating in 2016, I learned that I had a greater passion for computer science than life science. I'm seeking jobs that will help me expand my horizons in the field of web development, as well as make the world a better place.

Projects

Bodydash bodydash.co
Blood test and health monitoring web app

- Collaborated with a team of other designers and developers to create an application that improves preventative medicine.
- Architected a complex database model in PostgreSQL, involving doctor-patient interactions
- Built the api/page layer using Ruby on Rails and the UI layer using HTML, Sass, and JS with a strong focus on friendly and non-intimidating UX
- Built a mock data layer that allowed for simulating patient blood test results

FoodGuru real-food-guru.herokuapp.com
Home cooking classes app

- Worked with a team to build a marketplace app with a focus on preserving the art of home cooking
- Designed and built the listing page for finding a class using HTML and relatively complex CSS/Sass
- Built the backend layer responsible for creating and signing up for classes, with Ruby on Rails and PostgreSQL

CoderFlash coderflash.herokuapp.com
Web app for memorizing and recognizing proprietary language methods

- Created a responsive quiz app that uses a flashcard-like style to test a user's knowledge of integral parts of programming languages using React, Redux, and CSS

BoredGames betterboredgames.herokuapp.com
Web app for finding desired board games based on user specifications

- Built backend using PostgreSQL and Ruby on Rails to filter and select from a database of games to match various user specifications
- Built frontend using HTML and Sass with a mobile-first, progressive-enhancement methodology

Chatrooms
Multi-channel chat application. Essentially, a web Slack Clone

- Created a fluid, responsive frontend using React, Redux and Sass
- Built an api and storage layer using Ruby on Rails

Personal Website nadrioc.github.io
